

Cruise Ships

We have, as customers, some wonderful cruise ship lines. In the case of each firm, we had to agree in writing not to identify them or to take before and after photography.

So please review photos of horrible, filthy, streaked, windows on a cruise ship of another large fleet. We tried to arrange a Diamond Magic® demonstration. However, they claim that they had no complaints as to the dirty glass and were therefore not interested.

If you should happen to be on a cruise ship with filthy glass as these photos show, please complain, as high priced cabins and filthy glass really make a lousy combination. And we can always use a new customer.

Made with real diamond dust!
